Babies' and Toddlers' Wear

Baby's First Requirements

Many expectant mothers are not sure what knitted garments they should make to take to hospital with them. Most hospitals supply a list, and although this list varies sometimes with different hospitals, the following selection of first garments can be considered as essential. The list has been compiled after discussions with leading maternity hospitals.

MATINEE JACKETS—4 required.

Must be raglan sleeves and plain design. Mothers are asked not to take fancy patterns.

BONNETS—2 required. Fairly plain designs.

BOOTEES—As many as you care to take.

Fairly plain designs (no very fancy open pattern).

The knitted layette on this page has been specially designed to meet the hospitals' requirements.

The more fancy designs can of course be used after the return from hospital.
